

Information for Authors

The Nigerian Journal of General Practice is the Official Publication of the Association of General and Private Medical Practitioners of Nigeria [AGPMPN] and a forum for family private/general practice medicine education and research.

The Nigerian Journal of General Practice invites scholarly manuscripts relevant to the broad discipline of family/private/general practice medicine education .Selection is done by anonymous peer view and emphasis is on originality, scientific content and relevance to discipline. Articles published under the Journal are considered under three general categories.

Original Research: This includes manuscripts reporting research of a clinical, experimental and epidemiological nature .Manuscripts should show evidence of appropriate literature review and placement of new or innovative programs in the larger context of family/private/general medicine.

Theme Articles: Special commissioned articles are designed for descriptive or scholarly discussions of a topic of relevance to family/private/general medicine.

Clinical Practice: In addition, the Nigerian Journal of General Practice solicits items of opinion , comment explanation , queries , or matters of interest for publication under this column.

Manuscripts: Manuscripts for consideration should not have been published or submitted for publication in any other journal, nor should they have been published by the author[s] in a different form elsewhere. A statement signed by the author attesting to originality and lack of duplication in content or explaining the significance of new data, must accompany each manuscript.

Manuscripts should be clear, succinct, well documented and conform to, "Uniform Requirement", for Manuscripts submitted to Biomedical Journals, which can be found in JAMA.1997;277:927-927 or URL ;<http://www.ama-assn.org/public/jama/sc6336.htm>. In addition, manuscripts must reflect writing proficiency and correct usage of syntax, grammar, spelling and symbols to assure to transmission of accurate information.

All manuscripts must be typed double-spaced and three copies submitted though a single copy is sufficient for the clinical practice column. "Original Research" and "Theme Articles" manuscripts normally should not exceed 2500 words, including an abstract of less than 150 words.

A "Case Report" should be limited to 1000 words and include a brief abstract .Table for

"Case Report" should be limited to two and references to no more than five.

In addition to sectional heading "Introduction", "Methods", "Results" etc.-subheads of one or two words may be appropriate elsewhere in the articles, but long subheadings and outline formats should not be used. Tables and Figures are intended to clarify and supplement, not duplicate the text. Tables must be self-explanatory and concise. Figures charts and graph must be in high quality, reproducible form and legible when reduced to column size .Each table and figure should be on a separate page.

Article title should be limited to 75 letters, and should be specific and amenable to indexing. Author should be listed on a separate page with highest attained academic degree and the principal job title and major affiliation of author. References should be numbered in order in which they appear in the text and listed on a separate sheet. References must be in the Vancouver style. Abstracts should be structured with the following items; setting, objectives, design, results and conclusion.
